Freshie Reception

One of the most farcical comedies it has been the good fortune of the writer to attend in many a "one night stand" attractions, was that side-splitting "Freshie" reception given at the Union High School in Campbell Friday evening. The entire school and many of the Alumni were present filling the assembly hall to overflowing.

The committee headed by Miss Chamberlin had planned an indoor inter-class track meet and those who are still complaining of sore sides have this committee to thank.

The first event the shot—put was taking real shot from a small sack and putting it in a small pill bottle. From the beginning to the end of the meet the class rooters were in an uproar for their favorites.

A comical stunt was the hurdles, a blindfolded gentleman cracking and feeding peanuts to a lady classmate.

Another the 20-inch dash, eating down a string to a marshmallow, brought forth the most comical facial expressions of the contestants and cheers from the grandstand.

Of the many other events probably the most enthusiastic event as well as the most comical was the relay race. The contestants started from the platform, ran down an aisle and returned with a suit case. From this he took clothing and dressed himself and returned the case to the rear of the room. The manipulation of this outlandish apparel and the clownish effect afterwards brought down the house and it is safe to say that the judges were so amused that they were in no fit mind to render decisions. Miss Chamberlin and Prof. Cramer acted as trainer and starter respectively, and Rev. Atkinson, H. C. Smith and Roy Thompson were judges.

At the close of the contests it was found that the Seniors had captured first place by a narrow margin with 36 points, Sophomores 31, Freshmen 23, Juniors 18. Refreshments of ice cream cantaloupe and wafers were served at the close of the evening's entertainment and the Freshmen had been formally received. The event will long be remembered as a pleasant event in the school's history.

Pundita Entertained

Mesdames M. E. and A. A. Purmort and S. G. Nelson entertained the Pundita Circle at the home of Mrs. A. A. Purmort on Sunny Oaks avenue Tuesday afternoon in honor of the Misses Palmer, who expect to leave for their old home in Pomona, Tuesday.

A short session of the Circle was held planning the work for this year. We adjourned, and then convened as the "Old Maids Association," and a delightful time followed.

The guests of honor were presented with a large basket filled with most "wonderful" supplies for their journey, and they duly appreciated the care and forethought of their "sisters."

When the merriment subsided Mrs. Nelson presented them with a large roll, which she assured them was a roll of the members of the Society, which was true.

In addition however, was a beautiful linen tea cloth of drawn work and Battenburg lace, in appreciation of their life and work among us. Dainty refreshments were served, by our gracious hostesses.

One very pleasing feature was the decorations of grape vines over doors and windows, with large bunches of luscious grapes hanging from them.

Harvest---Home Social

We owe an apology to our friends and readers for the non-appearance of the following article which was set for last issue and thru a mistake was left in the galley. It has been "alive" all week in this form.

The Harvest Home Gathering at the M. E. Church was truly a genial gathering. A short program arranged by the ladies was thoroughly enjoyed by all as evidenced by the calls for encores. Mrs. Wilson and her father, Rev. Davison rendered that always beautiful duet, "Larboard, Watch" and later Mr. Davison sang "Out on the Deep." Miss Miller, of San Jose who's reputation as an elocutionist and entertainer is established here, gave several readings and E. E. Lanphear gave a very interesting and entertaining chalk talk. Miss Muriel Palmer sang a pretty contralto solo, Miss Beth Kennedy accompanying her at the piano. Rev. Wilson gave the finishing touches to the program with a rousing piano solo. Refreshments were served at the close of the program.

One small school boy is enjoying a week's vacation because the "teachers' instrument" is busy at the San Jose meeting.

Norman Kelley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Kelley, was badly bitten by a dog yesterday morning. While playing back of the meat market the dog made a rush at the boy cutting a deep gash in his back just below the right shoulder blade. The brute then seized the boy by the arm tearing the shirt sleeve and badly lacerating the flesh. Dr. Merrill was summoned at once and dressed the wounds and relieved the pain as much as possible.

PENGUIN OIL INDUSTRY

BIRDS ARE CAPTURED AND BRED FOR PROFIT.

Macquarie Island, Between Tasmania and the Antarctic Continent, Is the Center of a Promising Commercial Enterprise.

What is probably the most southerly industry of the world is being carried on at Macquarie island, about halfway between Tasmania and the Antarctic continent, in capture of penguins for their oil. Macquarie island belongs to the state of Tasmania, and has an area of about 25,000 acres, being about twenty-five miles long and five miles wide. The island is leased by the Tasmania government to Joseph Hatch, who has established a penguin oil industry there. Recently meeting Mr. Hatch, I obtained the following particulars from him:

There are probably 80,000,000 penguins on the island, so that the stock to be drawn from seems almost limitless. There are also a large number of sea elephants about the shores of this island. The oil is obtained from the penguins by boiling the carcasses in digesters capable of dealing with 800 birds at a time. The tops of the digesters are fastened down and steam applied until about twenty-five pounds pressure is abtained. The steam is then turned off and water pumped into the bottoms of the digesters, this causing the oil to rise, when it is takken off the top by a tap.

The oil is placed in barrels and sold to binder twine makers in Australia and New Zealand. There is a good market for all the oil that is produced here, but the industry has met with several severe losses through wreck of ships attempting to visit the island. There is no harbor about the island, so that vessels have to lie about half a mile off the rocky coast, and all material has to be conveyed to and from the shore on rafts formed of casks. Owing to the roughness of the open roadstead, it is impossible to obtain insurance for vessels trading there.

Macquarie island is about 750 miles southeast of Hobart. The island is barren, being covered only with tussocky grass. Whaling ships visiting there introduced rabbits and Maori hens, which are now quite prolific. The Mawson Antarctic expedition from Australia has established a wireless station there, and daily messages are now being received at Hobart. It was the intention of this expedition to use Macquarie island as a means of sending messages all the way from their base at Adelie land to Hobart, but unfortunately the wireless station established at Adelie land has been unable to communicate with Macquarie island, owing, it is supposed, to being too near the magnetic disturbances caused by the proximity of the south magnetic pole. The station at Macquarie island, however, has already proved of considerable value to shipping in Australian waters by giving warning of storms coming up from the south.—Consul Henry D. Baker, Hobart, Tasmania.

American "Aristocracy."

If gilt were only gold, or sugar candy common sense, what a fine thing our society would be! If to lavish money upon objects de vertu, to wear the most costly dresses and always to have them cut in the height of fashion; to build houses 30 feet broad as if they were palaces; to furnish them with all the luxurious devices of a Persian genius; to give superb banquets at which your guests laugh and which make you miserable; to drive a fine carriage and ape European liveries and crests and coats of arms; to resent the friendly advances of your baker's wife and the lady of your butcher (you being yourself a cobbler's daughter); to talk much of the "old families" and of your aristocratic foreign friends; to despise labor; to prate of "good society;" to travesty and parody, in every conceivable way, a society which we know only in books and by the superficial observation of foreign travel, which arises out of a social organization entirely unknown to us, and which is opposed to our fundamental and essential principles; if all these were fine, what a prodigiously fine society would ours be!—George William Curtis.

Drunken Monkeys.

According to a recent letter from the Congo region on the west coast of Africa, the monkeys there are inordinately fond of a kind of beer made by the natives, who use the beverage to capture their poor relations.

Having placed quantities of the beer where the monkeys can get it, the natives wait until their victims are in various degrees of inebriation, and when they then mingle with them the poor creatures are too much fuddled to recognize the difference between negro and ape.

When a negro takes the hand of one of them to lead him off, some other fond creature clings to the hand of the latter one, and another one to his hand; thus a single negro may sometimes be seen carrying off a string of staggering monkeys.

When secured the beer is administered in decreasing quantities, so that they may only gradually awaken to the sad results of their spree.

FARM AND ROAD IMPROVEMENT

CONSTRUCTION OF CORN CRIB

Modern Farmer Now Uses Elevator for Cribbing Crop—Section of Building Is Shown.

Modern machinery and methods have brought about great changes in harvesting the corn crop and the modern farmer now uses a corn elevator for cribbing his corn. In response to several inquiries and for the benefit of those who intend to build new cribs to be filled with an elevator we publish herewith a sectional drawing showing how the crib should be built, how the timbers should be placed and the various sizes of same, says the Iowa Homestead. The drawing shows a section of a 24-foot crib with a ten-foot driveway in the center and a grain bin over the drive. The length may be any size from 25 to 200 feet long. In building one of these cribs it must be remembered that the roof must have an angle of at least 45 degrees, that is, the slope of the same must be what is called half-pitch, meaning that the distance from the peak down to the plate must be half the width of the building. This steep roof is necessary to accommodate the corn conveyor and distributing spout which is hung directly from the rafters. For this reason care must be used not to have any cross ties higher up on the rafters than shown in the drawing. The studs are two by six inches set 24 inches on centers. The braces A, B and C are all two by six inches placed four feet on centers. The rafters are two by six inches set 24 inches on centers; the sills, if crib sets on piers, should be six by six inches or six by eight inches square. A tie rod one-half or five-eighths inches in diameter should be placed across the building ten feet apart, as shown. The guide boards are for distributing the corn evenly in the crib, but should not be nailed in place until the conveyor is installed, as in the distributing spouts in the various machines, the spout is so arranged that the center studs forming the driveway may be extended up above the plate line as much as three feet, increasing the capacity of the grain bin just that much. The roof may be covered with any material, but a good composition roof is recommended.

MATERIALS FOR GOOD ROADS

Exact Proportions of Sand and Clay Cannot Be Given Definitely Because of Variations.

The exact proportions of sand and clay for making the best sand-clay road cannot be stated, as the proportions vary with the character of the sand, according to its sharpness, percentage of foreign material and size of grains. Approximately, there is in a sand-clay road about eighty per cent. sand and twenty per cent. clay. One simple means of determining the theoretical amount of pure clay that should be added to any sand that is to be used in the construction of a sand clay road is to fill a glass tumbler brimfull with the sand that is to be used and then fill a similar tumbler with water; pour the water carefully onto the sand until the water comes flush with the surface, which will mean that all the voids between the grains of sand are now filled with water. The amount of water that has been poured into the tumbler containing the sand will represent the proportion of volume of clay that is necessary to add to that particular sand to fill all the voids with clay.

Having determined the source of supply of the best materials for making a sand-clay road, the next question is the mixing of the materials, and this varies with the character of the subsoil, whether this is a sand upon which clay is to be added or clay upon which sand is to be added. It will be found that it is much easier to make a sand-clay road where the subsoil is clay.

Improved Roads.

According to a report of the director of the office of public roads, the five leading states in improved roads are as follows:

	Mileage. 1904.	Improved. 1908.
Indiana	23,877	24,855
Ohio	23,490	24,106
New York	5,876	12,787
Wisconsin	10,633	10,167
Kentucky	9,486	10,114

SUPPORT FOR THE TOMATOES

One Shown in Illustration, Used for Several Years, Has Given Entire Satisfaction.

The illustration herewith shows a tomato support that I have used several seasons with much satisfaction, as it takes so little time and trouble to place it, and performs its office so perfectly, writes Henry C. Little of Massachusetts in the Rural New Yorker. All that is required is three stakes 2½ feet long and one inch or more square, sharpened at one end, and notch cut on one side at the other, just sufficient to hold the hoop up, and two barrel hoops of different sizes; a sugar barrel hoop and a flour barrel hoop work well, or hoops from end and middle of flour barrel. Drive the three stakes on a slant on a circle around base of plant as much smaller than the smaller hoop's diameter as the difference in diameter of the two hoops. Place the larger hoop in place, in the notches on top, and then press in the smaller one till all is taut. At end of season I make a bundle of all the stakes, and another of the hoops, and hang up out of the way till wanted the next season. Mine have been used five seasons, and are still good.

Tomato Support.

POLE DRAG IS SERVICEABLE

Next Best Implement Where One Does Not Possess Land Roller—Easy of Construction.

If you don't possess a land roller, the next best thing is a pole drag. The one shown in the cut is better than a roller for leveling and pulverizing the soil. It is composed of three hardwood poles 6 inches through and 7 feet long, writes Fred O. Selby in the Farm and Home. They are fastened together about 2 feet apart by means of short pieces of chain.

To hold the seat a piece of board is bolted to the middle of the first pole and allowed to extend slightly beyond the last one. On top of this an old mowing machine seat is fastened and the arrangement is such that while the seat is held in place the poles may work independently of each other. As the seat is bolted to the board, it can easily be removed, making the implement much easier to house when not in use. The drag should be drawn by a short piece of chain attached to the center of the first pole, as is indicated.

Good Roads & Farm Notes

It's the stray cockleburr that seeds the field for next year.

Never hoe or cultivate beans when the vines are wet with dew or rain.

A heavy crop of weeds will check the growth of the clover a great deal.

Blood meal is rich in protein, peas are much richer in protein than corn.

Corn planted to secure a large yield of ears makes the most valuable silage.

The seeding of rape and turnips in corn has become an established practice.

Sow some clover; if nowhere else, sow in corn after the cultivation is over.

Alfalfa will grow on nearly all good, well-drained soils, but best on a rich, sandy loam.

The only good way to shock grain is in round shocks with one or two cap sheafs on top.

Pick cucumbers often and clean. If permitted to mature and make seed, the productiveness of the vine stops.

Hoe, cultivate or rake the soil about once a week. Thus weeds will be killed before they have a chance to grow.

The sand vetch is smaller and more recumbent than the common vetch, and has been tested but little in this country.

Cypress is said to be the best material for wooden silo, as it possesses unusual weather and water resisting qualities.

Bear in mind that corn fodder, or fodder corn, must not be cut early for it means a los of a large part of its feeding value.

One lesson that the short hay crops of the past seasons have taught us is that a crop of hay can be raised along the roadside where weeds had their home before.

AUTOMOBILE COAT

Photograph by Underwood & Underwood, N. Y.

The steamer shawl will be utilized for automobile coats the coming winter. The material is of different colored Scotch wool, with plaid collar and cuffs. The original shawl fringe encircles the bottom of the coat, which is of three-quarter length. A white felt hat completes the costume.

WITH THE PARISIAN SANCTION

Postilion Hat Is Sure to Be Copied Though No Longer in the Greatest Vogue.

The fancy for the postilion hat has been short-lived so far as Paris is concerned, and London never greatly cares for millinery which the Parisienne accepts as bien amusante. More or less curly of brim, and with tall stiff crown, these hats trimmed with a feather en fantaisie or a floral aigrette had a brief furore, and certainly when new they were most appealing. They could not, however, bear repetition, and since people have taken to wearing them they have lost their attraction. For once the Frenchwoman seems to have forgotten that the fact of a hat being chic when worn by a woman of one type may make it impossible for those who belong to another.

This style of hat is, however, being made for autumn, and milliners are looking favorably upon its possibilities in beaver felt and plush.

BLOUSE

This is for veiling or delaine, and has the fronts trimmed with groups of fine tucks, between which strips of insertion are sewn; the back is trimmed to match. Tucks are made down the outside of sleeve, and the cuffs and collar are of entirely tucked material.

Materials required: 2 yards 40 inches wide, 2 yards insertion.

Lace and Pearls.

An original headdress is a simple mob cap of lace, encircled with a string of priceless pearls, and with one of the new straight feather aigrettes standing erect in the front. For the girl whose hat is not one of her best points these caps are a godsend; but it always seems to me a pity to cover up so completely a really pretty head of hair.

Table Decoration.

An inexpensive table decoration noted by Harpers Bazar is as follows: A crepe paper rose is hung from the chandelier, ribbons coming to each plate. The centerpiece is a large vase of roses with roses around the base. The bonbon dishes are tall glasses, and the favors are roses painted on cardboard. Baskets of roses are on either side of the table.

DRESDEN IDEAS COME BACK

Revival Is a Natural Result of the Fad That Calls for the Pannier Draperies.

With the revival of the pannier draperies comes back a decided emphasis on dresden silks, with all the exquisite colorings that we associate with the Dresden shepherdesses. Pinks and blue, yellows and pale green are the backgrounds on which are sprinkled fascinating bouquets, garlands and even baskets of flowers.

The dresden silks and satins are particularly adapted to suit the coatees that are incorporated on afternoon and evening frocks for summer. They are not so striking in contrast with a plain, thin fabric and there is great scope for color combinations and flower effects.

The rose season, so noticeable in fashions for the summer, is a timely one for flowered mulls, organdies, muslins, voiles and chiffons with which the dresden silks effectively combine.

Hats covered with dresden taffeta are decidedly chic. Bridesmaids now are favoring hats of this type to continue the idea of the dresden coatee thrown over simple and usable frocks of white or plain colors.

Little dresden silk slippers for the rest hour add a new touch to the negligee set, especially if bindings or trimmings of dresden silk be used on the gown.

Dresden sashes, with an extra line of the ribbon quilling trailing in and out among the bunches of flowers, are accepted by womankind as an idea that makes the assurance of beauty doubly sure.

It is undeniable that the dresden colorings in designs that are varied and inexpensive are a factor in the general beauty of summer styles. Are you using them?

Fascinating Lingerie.

For evening wear throughout the winter underskirts will remain as they are this summer, and some of the charming bargains so dear to the heart of womankind may be picked up at present, as, for instance, a petticoat of the finest satin messaline in the palest blue, with a knee-deep frill of kilted transparent lawn over a pleated frill of silk, slashed at intervals and held together by narrow bands of pale blue ribbon.

To Keep on Pumps.

When pumps slip at the heels and are too loose, paste a piece of velvet in the back, with the nap side out.

If the shoes still spread, take them to a shoemaker and have him put in a casing for a draw string, or a piece of elastic which is tightly fastened.

Overshoes that slip at the heel and are too big may be made more comfortable by glueing a thick piece of chamois up the back of the heel. Use a glue that stands water.

Silk Apples on Hats.

The black hat is amazingly popular at the moment in London. White is the favorite trimming, but yellow makes a very close rival. A black hat that I admired immensely had the rather low crown completely covered with bunches of small silk apples in varying shades of yellow, brown and pale green. A few apple leaves, very yellow ones, were mixed in between, and both fruit and leaves were kept as flat as possible.

WIT and HUMOR

SPEED MANIA IS DISASTROUS

Public Has Gone Crazy Over Matter of Rushing, Says Traveler, Who Soon Forgets Himself.

"Yes, sir," said the man who had his feet in a chair in the smoking compartment of the car, "you can trace nearly every railroad accident to the mania for speed. Safety is a secondary consideration. The first object is to get there in a hurry. Look at the advertisements of the different railroads. You'll see that speed is always emphasized. If one road can make the run from New York to Chicago in 20 minutes less time than it takes on some other road the fact is played up in big type, as if it were the most important thing in the world. The public has gone crazy over this matter of rushing. Get there quick is the great object. We've got to be educated up to the idea that speed is not the only thing which should be considered. The man who thinks his time is so important that the gain or loss of an hour is vital ought to be chucked into a well and allowed to cool off. Say, porter, how are we running? Seems to me this train is merely creeping along."

"Yes, sah. We're about 20 minutes late. The heavy rains have made the track unsafe along here and we got to go kind of careful."

"Confound this road, anyhow! I'll never travel on it again. Why the dickens can't they get people in on time!"

Still Had Hopes.

"What was your son's social standing in college?"

"Oh, very fair. Why, he almost got into the Gibber and Squeak society."

"Indeed! How was that?"

"Why, you know, they always hit them on the back as a sign they have been selected, and George was hit on the back with such force that it knocked him down."

"Mercy!"

"Yes, indeed. He thought, of course, he had been chosen, but he found out afterward it was the class bully who hit him because he didn't like the set of his collar. But even that's a great honor."

English, You Know.

"I shall discharge our butler," said Mr. Cumrox.

"What's the trouble?"

"He doesn't show me proper deference. When I am paying a man liberally, I consider it his duty to laugh at my jokes."

"And he won't?"

"I don't think he can. He's an English butler. When, in a spirit of gentle and condescending badinage, I said to him: 'Hawkins, can you tell me which came first, the chicken or the egg?' he said: 'Which did you order first, sir?'"

His Winning Delivery.

"And how is your excellent son, the divinity student? He graduated from the theological seminary about a year ago, I believe?"

"Yes, just a year ago. And he's doing so well! They pay him a wonderful large salary, and next year he's to get more."

"Indeed? That's very unusual. Perhaps it is his excellent delivery that nets him this large emolument?"

"Yes, that's it. He's one of the pitchers in the big league."

Candid Classification.

Visitor—So I belong to the animal kingdom, do I? That is right, my little dear. I see you know your lessons. Now, tell me what kind of an animal I am.

Candid Child—Ma knows, and she says you're a cat.

An Excuse.

"Jim, I want some money to get ready to go away with."

"My dear Julia, you don't realize how really poor we are. Why, the wolf is at the door."

"He always is when I want anything for myself. That wolf's a goat."

Where Viewed.

"I have just been reading some humorous observations entitled, 'The Reflections of an Old Maid.'"

"I'd rather read the reflections of a debutante."

"Impossible. Most of her reflections are in a mirror."

Indifferent Matter.

"There must be very little news in your paper today."

"What makes you think so?"

"I notice you are reading about the latest revolution in Central America."

Suspicious.

"Hello, old chap. I've been trying to run across you for some time."

Hunters Born, Not Made.

A hunter is born, not made. Unless a man has the love of the chase bred in his blood he's not going to get any blue ribbons pinned on him for sportsmanship. Some men take to the trail as naturally as a duck beats it to the puddle after cracking the eggshell. Then there are others who never seem to learn the game—they think they like to hunt but when you get them into the tall and unlumbered, they prove to be misfits who are eternally doing the wrong thing at the inopportune time.—National Sportsman.

It is said the London taxpayer is put to an extra expense of $60,000 annually by reason of the prevalence of fog. One gas company alone furnishes gas to the value of $15,000 over and above the normal figure on a single day of fog. The suspension of traffic is another serious item.

IN THE MOON.

The visible part of the moon is about equal to the superficies of North America. It is very mountainous, and around the vast dry plains which form the dark spots seen with the naked eye are volcanoes whose funnel-shaped craters resemble old wells filled in by the deposits of the ages. Maps of the moon show more than 33,000 such craters, some of them 200 kilometers in diameter. Measured by the length of their shadows some of the lunar mountains are 8,200 meters high. The earth's radius is supposed to be nearly four times that of the moon, Proportionally the moon is much more mountainous than the earth. All the lunar volcanoes are extinct. The moon was formed after the earth was formed; it has gone to its doom faster than the earth because, as its mass is much feebler than the earth's mass, it cooled faster. The moon's light and shade are seen clearly because it has no appreciable atmosphere. It is not inhabited.—Harper's Weekly.

BOSTON'S LARGE INDEX.

On Beacon hill, in Boston, under the golden dome of the state house, is one of the largest indexes in the world. In fact, the Russian public index is the only one known to be larger. More than 9,000,000 names, births, marriages and deaths in Massachusetts from 1843, make a complete record, showing not only where people were born and where they died, but also statistics which are vital in making up calculations. Before this time the records were kept in the different towns, but now they are all concentrated in the state house in Boston. In a relatively small space all these records are preserved, and as birth, marriages and deaths come in, different forms of cards are used, as a great variety of names, Grecian, Assyrian, Italian and others now mingle with good old New England names that have been on the records since the landing of the Mayflower.—National Magazine.

LOCATED THE CULPRIT.

Another mysterious shortage of the milk supply from a hitherto abundant milker—a Holstein, owned by Mr. Hendershot, an Ohio farmer—has been solved. The son of Mr. Hendershot, armed with a camera, located and photographed the pilferer in the act of pilfering—the favorite piglet of the farm. The guilty little runter is now up against a life sentence of penal servitude.

PRUSSIC ACID IN PLANTS.

The remarkable fact that considerable quantities of free prussic acid are accumulated in the living tissues of certain plants was observed by the late Dr. M. Treub, and there appears to be little doubt that this poisonous acid is actually utilized as food material by these plants. Some interesting details concerning the occurrence and function of prussic acid in the cherry laurel are given by Peche, who concludes from his observations that the prussic acid found in the leaves and other organs is produced as a direct result of carbon assimilation in the green leaf cells when exposed to light, and that it is not merely a product of the hydrolysis of glucosides. Peche found evidence that, while part of the prussic acid enters into the building up of glucosides, some of it is transported in a labile form, probably in loose combination with a tannin, and is stored up in various tissues as a reserve food.—Nature.

BEES PRE-EMPT ROOM.

At Blackburn, Lancashire, England, a swarm of several thousand bees recently took possession of a bedroom at Walnut street, in the absence of the tenant, a cotton operative, and his family. Sweeping like a cloud through the open window, the bees resisted all attempts to dislodge them, and some young people were so severely stung as to necessitate medical treatment. Ladders were brought, and, with hands and faces protected, men climbed to the roof with brooms. Others tried to smoke out the unwelcome visitors with some degree of success, large numbers being killed. An attempt to hive the bees, made in the evening, was successful.

LENGHTY REIGNS.

The Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria has now reigned sixty-three years, seven months and twelve days. The reign of Queen Victoria was one of sixty-three years, seven months, and two days. The Elector Charles Theodore of the Palatinate and Louis XIV. of France have alone surpassed Francis Joseph's record, the former having reigned sixty-six and the latter seventy-two years, but both of them came to the throne as minors, the former at the age of nine, and the latter as a child of five.

PREHISTORIC GOUT.

An anthropologist has discovered that from the earliest times men have been subject to gout and rheumatism. The examination of 100 skeletons of both sexes, from the stone age, has revealed that our remote ancestors suffered acutely from these two diseases, which suggests that bone and muscle maladies are not to be attributed to high living, but rather to damp, unhygienic dwellings and exposure to cold and to climatic influences.

Bones as a Barometer.

The merits of bones as indicators of fair or foul weather have been vouched for by the captain of an Italian steamer carrying a cargo of bones from the South American port of Buenos Ayres to New York. When the ship was sailing toward a storm recently the skipper stated the bones creaked and moaned, and when fair weather was ahead they were silent again.

Where He Belonged..

At the dinner table on board a ocean liner one man was much annoyed by the vulgar manner in which his next neighbor fed. He tried to take no notice of the man, but after watching him pick a bone in an extremely primitive fashion, he could not control his feelings any longer, and turning to the offender, he said: "Don't you really think you would be more comfortable if you took that bone out on the mat?"—Youth's Companion.

Medical Attention.

"It has often been said, with truth, that only two classes of people receive truly expert medical attendance—the very rich and the very poor," writes Walter Pritchard Eaton in Munsey's for October. "The very rich can afford specialists and trained nurses. The very poor are taken to million-dollar hospitals, where the best is given to them, and then, perhaps, to convalescent country homes. The rest of us are at the mercy of the general practitioner and amateur nursing."

The Heathen in His Blindness.

An Indian went hunting one day for deer. After tramping through the woods for some hours he came across a herd and managed to kill one. He shouldered it and started for market, which was some five miles away. Now of course, the longer he walked the heavier the deer got, and by the time he reached the deer market he was about all in. He hung the deer on the scales and stood looking at it with wonder. Finally he said to the man: "Ugh! Let him hang a while."

Lemons as Toilet Article.

Nearly every woman uses a lemon in her toilet preparations. For removing stains or freckles or bleaching a neck made yellow by high collars there is nothing better. Only a very little lemon is needed at one time. To keep a lemon from drying up and becoming useless place it under an ordinary glass tumbler on the toilet stand and will not wither and dry out.

Home Life of the Birds.

Unlike most birds, the grebes do not brood their eggs continually. It is only at night and on cloudy days that you will find them at home. As soon as the sun has risen and warmed the chilly morning air the old bird leaves her nest and, collecting decaying vegetation from the shore or bottom of the lake, she covers the eggs with a thick layer and leaves the sweltering mass of streaming muck to hatch them while she spends the day in idleness or play.

GAZETTEER OF CALIFORNIA SURFACE WATERS

Catalog of Rivers and Lakes Published by United States Geological Survey in Cooperation with State Water Commission and State Conservation Commission

The second part of the Gazettere of the Surface Waters of California, prepared by the United States Geological Survey in cooperation with the State Water Commission and the Conservation Commission of California, has just appeared as Water-Supply Paper 296. This volume covers all the rivers, creeks, lakes, and other bodies of water in the drainage basin of San Joaquin River and gives a brief description of each, stating the source, general course, and location, body of water into which it empties, length, fall, and other useful data.

The gazetter shows many curious similarities in nomenclature, common and favorite names having been given to different bodies of water by the original settlers, who christen most of the streams and other landmarks in new countries. In the San Joaquin basin there are 10 Indian creeks, 9 Deer creeks, 8 Mill, 8 Bear, 7 Rock, and 6 Willow. Among other frequently recurring names are Beaver, Big, Cottonwood, Fish, Grizzly, Rattlesnake, Horse, and Dry.

This gazetter is one of a series of reports which is being published by the Geological Survey under cooperative agreement with the State of California and which will become a part of the final reports of the two State commissions above named. The object of these State commissions is to procure all facts concerning location, flow, fall, and possibilities of water power and irrigation development of the streams of the State, together with the storage possibilities on all the lakes, ponds, and artificial reservoir sites. The gazetteer therefore forms a key to the information contained in the engineering reports. For the general public it is valuable geographically because it affords a ready means of reference to the facts concerning any of the bodies of water of the State and also a means of identification. An example of the information contained in the gazetteer is given in the following reference:

"Chowchilla River (R); rises in Madera County, where it is formed by the junction of the East and West forks in T. 7 S., R. 20 E., Mount Diablo base and meridian; the East Fork rises on the south slope of the Chowchilla Mountains in T. 5 S., R. 21 E., at altitude 6,000 feet above sea level, and flows southwestward; the West Fork rises in the southern part of T. 4 S., R. 19 E., at altitude 4,200 feet above sea level, and flows in general southeastward; the forks unite in Bailey Flats in Madera County, whence their combined waters flow southwestward to the lower San Joaquin; principal tributaries below the forks, Horse, Split Rock, and Chapman creeks from the north, and Willow Creek from the south. The stream is characterized by sudden, short freshets and its lower bed is dry from June until the fall rains. Gaging station at base of foothills 1878-1884). Mariposa sheet; Bull. U. S. Geol. Survey No. 140, 1896, p. 295."

Copies of Water-Supply Paper 296, and also of Water-Supply 295 (Part I of the Gazetteer) may be obtained free on application to the Director of the Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

A Mocking Lynching

TALK about the Inquisition of the dark days. How far removed is this proceeding from such torture? Sheriff Stahl of Kenosha County, Wis., conducted a "mock lynching," October 1, to wring confession from a negro accused of stealing a gun valued at $60. With the rope around his neck and the "mob"—organized by the sheriff—ready to pull him off his feet and choke him to death, as he believed, he confessed. Almost any man would, guilty or not guilty. We do not know how Kenosha County will view the act of its sheriff, but we do know that any humane man or woman who had the power would put him out of office instanter, and deal with him as he deserves, if there were any law for it. We doubt if a white man, be his crime what it might, would be thus treated.—S. F. Call.

WHILE San Jose papers and good citizens are working for the purpose of making their city "more beautiful", a most worthy cause, they should not overlook those hideous omnipresent billboards. There are other methods of advertising which are far more commendable and stronger. Advertisers should use the columns of these papers that are working for the beautifying of the city and the good citizens should patronize those advertisers, thereby helping the good cause. Down with the billboards.

THE rancid odor that escapes from some of the courts of our land is enough to make the very statue of Justice hold her nose. Recently a juvenile judge, in this State, on complaint of a teacher, sentenced a boy 14 years old to 7 years in The Reform school, on the charge of slapping said teacher. Next. A man charged with embezzlement of $15,000 is given 18 months in San Quentin. Such (IN)justice is enough to make the blood of every honest citizen literally boil.

MANY of the farmers around Gilroy are reaping a bountiful harvest in the form of sugar beets. Many are selling, according to the Advocate, on the basis of the quantity of sugar produced and are getting from $6 to $7.25 per ton. Those selling on the flat ton contracts are receiving less. These are days of diversified and intensified farming and this is but one product. Can you beat it?

THE National Rock Highway from Ocean to Ocean, New York to San Francisco is the latest big movement on foot and more than $1,000,000 has already been subscribed. The management will try to complete the highway in time for the 1915 Fair. Fine thing for California.

WHERE THE WEST BEGINS.

Out where the handclasp's a little stronger,
Out where a smile dwells a little longer,—
That's where the West begins.
Out where the sun is a little brighter,
Where the snows that fall are a trifle whiter,
Where the bonds of home are a wee bit tighter,—
That's where the West begins.

Out where the skies are a trifle bluer,
Out where friendship's a little truer,—
That's where the West begins.
Out where a fresher breeze is blowing,
Where there's laughter in every streamlet flowing,—
Where there's more of reaping and less of sowing—
That's where the West begins.

Out where the world is in the making,
Where fewer hearts with despair are aching,—
That's where the West begins.
Where there's more of singing and less of sighing
Where there's more of giving and less of buying,
And a man makes friends without half trying,—
That's where the West begins.
—Arthur Chapman in Denver paper.

Burbank and Cost of Living

Luther Burbank is Duncan E. McKinlay's solution of the high cost of living.

"All the economists agree," he said, "that the chief item is the high price of meats. And they all agree that meats are high because the Western range is gone—because the great plains that used to grow cattle and sheep cheaply are now turned into farms.

"Burbank has taken cactus—that prickly curse of the plains that used to grow spikes from one to three inches long—and made it so smooth that you can rub your face with it as you would with a glove. And that is where its value comes in. Every ounce of that cactus is just as good for cattle, sheep, hogs and chickens as alfalfa.

Community Loyalty.

No city or town can grow and prosper unless its people are loyal to its interests and to its merchants.

Loyalty is not a long distance sentiment which is expressed by simply shouting for the flag.

Loyality should begin in devotion to civic duty.

Loyalty not only means enthusiasm on the fourth of July and other national holidays but substantial support of your city every day in the year.

Loyalty should display itself in working for the promotion of its growth and prosperity of the city-working for the defense of its civic initiative; its right to exist and prosper.

One way to make your town grow is to patronize its merchants, promote its interests and to conserve its civil identity. You owe this to your neighbors, to yourself and to the community.

"Now, cactus grows naturally all over the Southwestern states. It grows in sand, and takes its sustenance from the air. There are 2,500,000 acres of land in the inter-mountain states owned by the government that will grow that cactus naturally, without cultivation—and three billion acres of desert in the world.

"This is what I saw at Burbank's place a week ago last Sunday. One single acre on which there were 2,056 tons of that cactus, and the plants were but three years old. Think of where the price of cattle and sheep would go if that much alfalfa could be raised to an acre

"Think of the millions of acres that are now waste, producing that cactus instead of the impossible, prickly stuff that they now grow wild. I tell you there is the solution of the cost of living. Burbank has furnished it."

Maud Muller

Maud Muller on a summer's day
Out in the meadows raked away.

The judge came by, just as of yore,
But when he gazed the meadows o'er

In search of Maud, so sweetly fair,
Was not aware that she was there.

And so with spirit much cast down
Kept sadly on his way to town.

The trouble was that her new hat
She wore that day out on the flat

Loomed up so large both front and back,
The judge mistook it for a stack,

And never knew the maid so gay
Was not another load of hay!
